

SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGY, M.S.

FOR HELPING CHILDREN AND FAMILIES

We're all in for you at Roberts, so you can go all in for your students.

Build your confidence and follow your vocational passion. You'll become ready to lead in a school environment, making evidence-based decisions and consulting with parents, teachers, and administrators.

Learn to evaluate, diagnose, and treat children and adolescents. All three years will connect you with practitioner faculty, diverse practice opportunities, and preparation to become nationally certified. Build your career in helping students and their families. Serve the world around you by earning your degree.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Earn a certificate of advanced study (C.A.S.) upon degree completion
- Your third year will be spent in a paid internship in a school setting, supported by a dedicated field education director
- Enjoy a collaborative, supportive environment
- Be mentored by practitioner faculty

OUTCOMES
